

Hook:

You've probably had various attempts at this as a complete beginner.

You'll do almost anything in the pursuit of making money online.

Super Hook:

I've also tried and failed at so many different business models.

I'm now a self-made millionaire in my early twenties though.

Lead:

It all changed when I stopped running a conventional agency.

The reason for this was that I decided to become a middleman instead.

Body:

You keep running in circles because success is unconventional with a conventional agency.

It has tons of barriers to entry, requires endless effort and sacrifice, and is highly saturated.

This means that you rarely get past that initial hurdle, you compete with others on something that you all have, and you end up fighting for scraps.

The most successful entrepreneurs are actually middlemen, like AirBnB, Uber, or Amazon.

It's relationship-based, leverages the concept of arbitrage, and is extremely untapped.

This means that you have the odds in your favour, you wield an unfair advantage, and you get to play in a blue ocean.

Call-To-Action:

I'm hosting a free live masterclass where I'll be teaching how to cash in on this as well.
